Man indicted for robbing Minneapolis bank

A 30-year-old man was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in connection with the Feb. 28, 2008, bank robbery at the First National Bank of the Lakes in Minneapolis.

Cody Lyle Green, unknown address, was charged March 20 in Minneapolis with one count of bank robbery. Green's indictment alleges that he did by force, violence and intimidation, take approximately $1,000 from a teller at the bank, located at 3100 Hennepin Ave.

If convicted, Green faces a potential maximum penalty of 20 years in prison. All sentences are determined by a federal district court judge. This case is the result of an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Minneapolis Police Department, and is being prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney Michael A. Dees.

An indictment is a determination by a grand jury that there is probable cause to believe that offenses have been committed by the defendant. The defendant, of course, is presumed innocent until he or she pleads guilty or is proven guilty at trial.
